

3 Types of Communities

1. Rural Areas:

1. In rural areas, there are lots of open spaces, like fields, forests, and farms.
2. People in rural areas often live far apart from each other.
3. You might see more animals like cows, horses, and chickens in rural areas.
4. It's usually very peaceful and quiet in rural areas.

2. Suburban Areas:

1. Suburban areas are like a mix of rural and urban areas.
2. You can find houses close together, but there are also parks and yards for playing.
3. Sometimes there are small shops and schools nearby.
4. Suburban areas are not as busy as cities, but they're not as quiet as rural areas.

3. Urban Areas:

1. Urban areas are big cities with lots of tall buildings and busy streets.
2. There are many people living close together in apartments and houses.
3. You'll find lots of stores, restaurants, and schools in urban areas.
4. Cities have lots of cars, buses, and trains moving around.
