

Family Motto Lesson:

Begin by discussing the concept of families and how each family is unique. Show images or symbols representing unity and togetherness (e.g., hearts, hands holding, a family tree).

Ask simple questions to engage students, such as:

- "What is a family?"
- "What do you like to do with your family?"
- "Why is it nice to be a part of a family?"

Explain the concept of a family motto by saying it's like a special phrase that reminds your family about what's important.

Share simple examples like "We love and help each other." "Together we grow, together we love". "Kindness and love is our family".

Ask students to brainstorm ideas for their family motto. Encourage simple and positive phrases.

Use prompts like:

- "What do you like to do together as a family?"
- "What makes your family special?"
- "How do you show love and kindness at home?"

Provide each student with the family motto hand out.

Give them access to markers, crayons, and stickers to decorate.

Assist younger students with writing the motto or write it out for them based on their ideas.

Encourage them to use symbols or drawings that represent their family.

Allow students to share their family mottos with the class.

Discuss how each family is different and special in its own way.

- Summarize the activity by emphasizing the importance of families and how their mottos represent love and togetherness.
- Encourage students to share their family motto with their families at home.
- This lesson not only teaches the concept of a family motto but also promotes creativity, collaboration, and a sense of belonging among the students.
